Wall drilling is no longer dangerous
Precisely locate all kinds of metal/wood bars/wires to prevent drilling

The image shows a hand holding a yellow and black stud finder against a wall. The device has a digital display showing a vertical line and a battery icon. Below the display are several icons representing different detection modes: a trash can, a wire, a metal bar, and a wood bar. There are also buttons for 'ON/OFF', 'MODE', and a directional pad. In the background, a power drill is positioned to drill into the wall, with a wooden stud visible behind it.
